What is the 'Grants and Program' page on the Northmore Gordon website?

It is an archive page (<https://northmoregordon.com/grant-type/grants-and-program/>) listing Northmore Gordon's articles on various government grants and funding programs, each with a publication date and a link to read more.

What programs were published on September 2, 2026 according to the archive?

On September 2, 2026, Northmore Gordon published articles on the QLD Sustainability Loan – Primary Producer, the Cleaner Fuels Program, and the Net Zero Planning Grant.

What is a grant according to Northmore Gordon's knowledge base?

A grant is a form of financial support that differs from other funding mechanisms like certificates or financing arrangements, and before relying on one for a project you must establish several key eligibility criteria.

What key elements must be confirmed before relying on a grant for a project?

Before relying on a grant, you must confirm: applicant or project eligibility, the applicable round and deadline, eligible expenditure (which project costs can be funded), and the approval and payment conditions.

Where can grant opportunities be found according to the knowledge base?

The Australian Government Grants Finder is a useful starting point for discovering grant opportunities by location, purpose and status, though finding a grant page online does not establish that applications are currently open.

What should be done after finding a grant program online, per the knowledge base?

The critical next step is to obtain the administering body's current programme guidelines for the particular funding round, since these guidelines specify the specific conditions and requirements for that round of funding.
