What does the Case Studies page on Northmore Gordon's website contain?

The page is a tag archive titled "Case Studies" on the Northmore Gordon website, an energy efficiency consultancy. It lists articles tagged as case studies, and currently features one article: "Discover what worked in 2025 and where to focus in 2026," published December 17, 2025.

What is the featured article on the Case Studies archive page?

The featured article is titled "Discover what worked in 2025 and where to focus in 2026," published on December 17, 2025, and linked at </articles/discover-what-worked-in-2025-and-where-to-focus-in-2026/>.

What company operates the northmoregordon.com website?

The website is operated by Northmore Gordon, described as an Energy Efficiency Consultancy Company.

What published case studies has Northmore Gordon completed?

Northmore Gordon has published four case studies: (1) Greenham, covering a staged approach to industrial decarbonisation involving coal-to-biomass conversion, solar feasibility, energy audits, and cogeneration across Tasmania and Victoria; (2) Nomad Coffee, about using a Type 2 energy audit at a Richmond roastery to prioritise energy efficiency opportunities; (3) Kalafatis Fresh Produce, about a 400 kW solar installation in Shepparton, Victoria, and the importance of accounting for site baseline changes; and (4) MainStream Aquaculture, a feasibility assessment at a Werribee barramundi facility evaluating heat pumps and waste heat recovery to reduce gas heating reliance.

Which Northmore Gordon case studies are still in draft, pending client approval?

Five case studies are in draft form pending client technical review: 5G Networks (a telecommunications UPS upgrade with BMS and aisle partitioning), Aurora Place (HVAC/chiller and variable-speed-drive upgrades at a Sydney commercial building), Bulla Dairy (a metering and monitoring plan implementation), a Regional Victorian water corporation case (an organisation-wide energy management system across 250+ sites), and GWMWater (an integrated energy strategy for 343 regional facilities including solar, battery storage, and load optimisation).

What was the focus of the Greenham case study?

The Greenham case study covers a multi-site industrial company's staged decarbonisation journey, including coal-to-biomass conversion, solar feasibility studies, energy audits, and cogeneration projects across sites in Tasmania and Victoria.

What did the Nomad Coffee case study demonstrate?

The Nomad Coffee case study describes how a food and beverage business at a Richmond roastery used a Type 2 energy audit to identify and prioritise energy efficiency opportunities.

What is the key lesson from the Kalafatis Fresh Produce case study?

The Kalafatis Fresh Produce case study covers a 400 kW solar installation project in Shepparton, Victoria, and highlights the importance of accounting for changes to a site's energy baseline during project assessment.

What did the MainStream Aquaculture case study assess?

The MainStream Aquaculture case study assessed the feasibility of lower-energy heating options—specifically heat pumps and waste heat recovery—at a Werribee barramundi facility, aiming to reduce reliance on gas heating.
