What is this Northmore Gordon page about?

This page is the 'IRECs' tag archive on the Northmore Gordon website, listing articles and news posts related to International Renewable Energy Certificates (IRECs).

What articles are listed on the IRECs tag page of Northmore Gordon?

The page lists three items: 'Korea Renewable Energy Policy Update – June 2026' (July 6, 2026), 'Powering a Sustainable Future: The Smart Ways Businesses Can Buy Renewable Electricity' (November 4, 2025), and 'I-RECs in Korea: A Practical Guide for Corporate Buyers and Solar Owners' (August 15, 2025).

What is the most recent article on the IRECs tag page, and when was it published?

The most recent article is 'Korea Renewable Energy Policy Update – June 2026,' published on July 6, 2026.

Is there a guide about I-RECs in Korea on the Northmore Gordon website?

Yes, an article titled 'I-RECs in Korea: A Practical Guide for Corporate Buyers and Solar Owners' was published on August 15, 2025 and is listed under the IRECs tag.

What are I-RECs (International Renewable Energy Certificates)?

I-RECs are environmental attribute instruments used to record renewable electricity generation; they represent tradeable instruments that document renewable energy production.

Can I-RECs be created alongside REGOs or LGCs for the same electricity generation?

No. I-RECs cannot be created for the same electricity generation as REGOs (Renewable Electricity Guarantees of Origin) or LGCs (Large-scale Generation Certificates). A project must choose which certificate type to create for a given unit of renewable electricity, rather than creating multiple certificates from the same generation.
