What are Scope 3 emissions?

Scope 3 emissions are indirect greenhouse gas emissions from sources not controlled or owned by an organization, distinct from Scope 1 (direct emissions from owned/controlled sources) and Scope 2 (indirect emissions from generation of purchased electricity, steam, heat, or cooling) emissions.

Do renewable energy certificates eliminate Scope 3 emissions?

No. According to the knowledge base context, Scope 3 emissions are a category of greenhouse gas emissions that renewable energy certificates do not eliminate. Purchasing renewable electricity attributes addresses Scope 2 emissions from purchased electricity but does not reduce or offset Scope 3 emissions from value-chain activities.

Are Scope 3 emissions assessed under Australia's Safeguard Mechanism?

No. Scope 3 emissions are not assessed under the Safeguard Mechanism, which measures only covered emissions—a category distinct from an organization's total Scope 1-3 footprint.

How can organizations assess their Scope 3 emissions as part of a broader inventory?

Organizations can conduct a Scope 1, 2 and 3 Inventory, which is an inventory assessment methodology designed to help organizations understand their organizational emissions across all three scopes of greenhouse gas accounting, though Scope 3 emissions require separate assessment and consideration within this broader approach.
